Work has centered on supporting the Sun tests. One task is the interpretation of the polarization calibration data. Another task is evaluation of image motion e.g. as a function of waveplate angle.

Also, work continues on the development of the inversion code for HMI by means of support vector machines. We are currently focusing on how accurately and fast can the magnetic field strength be inferred.

Steven Tomczyk, March 15, 2006